Hunter For Chrome Registration Code

Hunter for Chrome is a great and useful Chrome extension that allows you to easily find email addresses of people behind any website you visit. This is an extension for Chrome that lets you find an email address (either free or for a fee) of the person who currently owns a domain. The extension helps you find email addresses for a target domain by searching other sources, such as WHOIS, and also by searching for email contacts of people behind other domain names owned by the same company. The extension gathers email addresses it finds in several ways and displays the results in a form that you can easily fill in, saving you a lot of time. Hunter for Chrome's main features The extension is well-designed and easy to use, and it provides a convenient way of searching for email addresses. It offers you the following features: Performs a domain search and displays email contacts for the domains you search for You can search for any domain by entering its name and clicking the Search button. It will then search for domain names, including their related subdomain names, with the same name as the entered one. Extracts email addresses from whois records of relevant domain names It is also possible to find an email address of the person who currently owns a domain by entering it in the field and clicking the Find button. A list of email addresses is displayed, with the names and addresses of the owners whose domains are closely related to the one you searched for. Performs a search based on "Last name" (of domain owners) When the last name of the owner of the domain you searched for is entered, the extension searches for email addresses and, if it finds any, displays a list of them. You can choose which email addresses to add to your list of leads, and the extension will present you with a confidence score so you can make the decision easier. Performs a search based on "First name" (of domain owners) When the first name of the owner of the domain you searched for is entered, the extension searches for email addresses and, if it finds any, displays a list of them. Helps you create a list of leads Once you have received the results of a domain search, you can create a list of leads by simply adding emails to it. It enables you to verify each email address before adding it to your list, making sure you receive accurate information. Works with FTP and SSH servers It is possible to search for email addresses only
