MADPATCH an auditory effect for noise reduction of source recordings using over the air radio stations of the State of Maryland. MADPATCH is an auditory effect for noise reduction of source recordings using over the air radio stations of the State of Maryland. The user can select any one of the state's 18 radio stations to listen to before recording. When recording, the frequency range of the selected station is shifted to match the recorder's playback frequency range. For this reason, any recording between 0 and about 200 Hz is shifted down to 0 and any recording between about 11 and about 5000 Hz is shifted up to 200. The effect can be used to record clear and clean source recordings while monitoring over the air radio stations of the State of Maryland. Available as a VST plugin in Windows Media Player 10, Windows 7 and Windows Vista, and also as a standalone program. Version 3.16: Fixed VST export for latest versions of Cubase, MusE, Sonar4, Reason. Version 3.15: New: Support for Ensoniq Mirage New: Time stretching to 0.1 second New: Time stretching to 0.5 second New: Envelope follower (that is, VST Audio Unit version) Version 3.14: New: Increased audio processing rate to 16 times original rate. This allows for application of the effect at new sample rates. New: Added VST Audio Unit version New: The rate and depth of the filter section can be changed from the GUI New: The filter section can have its cutoff point and Q lowered New: Added a form to allow users to select the frequency range and frequency of the selected station New: Changed how the filter cutoff frequency is selected so that maximum filter Q is used New: Envelope follower (that is, Audio Unit version) New: Ability to preserve the original attack and release times for the envelope follower New: Option for manual delay on the output New: Added VST Export to Reason New: Added VST Export to MusE New: VST Export to Sonar Version 3.13: New: Added Metropolis Audio Silent Reverb as AudioUnits2 New: Fixed VST Export for latest versions of Cubase, MusE, Sonar4, Reason Version 3.12: New: Added AudioUnits2 version New: Added a GUI form that makes it

This is a one plugin-only package, providing VST-compatible plug-in with a modern modulated low-pass design. The effect has a stereo-pair of individual sidechain or stereo bus inputs for each voice. All the controls you need are at your disposal. You can suppress the effect, add it to both channels, use its sidechain or stereo bus controls or monitor its output level. To get the effect to perform well you need to define its input and output latency as strictly as you can. Low latency ensures that your sounds are in time with the application of the effect but also that your recording is in time with the recording being played back through the effect. Postoperative abdominal distention after laparoscopic cholecystectomy is a relatively frequent finding. However, stomach stasis is an infrequent complication. We studied 75 consecutive patients who underwent laparoscopic cholecystectomy without complications. We evaluated the predisposing factors, clinical and laboratory findings, diagnostic studies, therapeutic approach and the long-term results. Abdominal distention was observed in 48% of patients, and only in 3 (4%) of them it required surgical correction, with no mortality or morbidity. Among predisposing factors, we found greater age and obesity in 10%, previous abdominal surgery in 8%, multiple comorbidities in 12%, steatorrhea in 8%, gastric outlet obstruction in 6%, medication in 3%, pregnancy in 1%, and a history of gastro-intestinal disease in 28%. Laboratory tests showed a variable number of leucocytes (46%), an increase in C-reactive protein (55%), a decrease in Hb (9%), an increase in the transaminases (36%) and an increase in gamma-glutamyl-transpeptidase (12%). The most frequent complaints were abdominal pain (38%), vomiting (36%), gastroesophageal reflux (21%), and flatulence (18%). Abdominal CT and ultrasound were performed in 74% and 76% of patients, respectively, showing signs of distension in 46% and 74% of cases, respectively. In 29%, the findings were normal or insignificant, and in 27% of cases, the diagnosis was very difficult. The most common diagnosis was steatorrhea (9%). Gastrointestinal endoscopy was performed in 42%, showing a stasis in the fundus in 6.2
