Spontaneous coronary artery dissection (SCAD) is a rare disease that has been reported mainly in young women during the peripartum period. A 33-year-old woman presented with chest pain 1 h after giving birth to her second child. Coronary angiography showed SCAD involving the mid portion of the left anterior descending coronary artery. This report describes the case of a patient with SCAD, and the literature review is supplemented by a discussion of the etiology, clinical presentation, diagnosis, and treatment of this disease. is the closest to $\frac{2}{5}$ in u , 0, 0.13? 0.13 Let $y = -34.5 + 35$.
