

"In a game with over 400 different animations and countless interactions, it's impossible to replicate everything players do on the field in a traditional animation. "Let's face it, these guys are making all kinds of moves during the game that no human being could ever replicate," said Matt Prior, Senior Producer on FIFA 22. "In a lot of cases, a player's extra movement only shows up when their match data is fed into FIFA's engine, so we believe the data created by these players' real-life movements can translate to their in-game motion more accurately. With every step, every pass, every kick, every player will look and feel more realistic than ever before." "Having real-life player data means that any weapon you pull off the shelf will feel accurate, when you miss a shot you'll know why, and when you make that goal against your opponent, you'll understand how you did it," said Marc Stern, Producer on FIFA 22. "It's the kind of deep gameplay additions that make FIFA a great game to this day." "The more data we get from real-life players, the more authentic we can make the game," said Alex Davies, Technical Director. "The match data we have from the real-life players is so rich and detailed, we can now use it to make every interaction and element of gameplay feel more life-like." FIFA 22's new "HyperMotion" Engine leverages the game's powerful brand-new Physics engine to apply real-life physics to a single player's movements. "With today's game engine and physics, we can capture in-game movements with unmatched realism and precision. From precise movements at speed like passing and shooting, to head movements of shots on goal, every detail of a player's motion will feel lifelike in FIFA 22." From launching dribbles to striking an accurate pass, every in-game motion during gameplay will now look, feel and behave like it would in real life. With the addition of "HyperMotion", FIFA 22 introduces a host of game-changing motion captures, including: The FIFA 22 CPU Engine integrates Motion Control's Player Motion Capture technology to allow players to strike crisp and controlled passes; Embraces player

FIFA is the world's premier football videogame series, and the official videogame of the Union of European Football Associations (UEFA). Developed by EA Canada, FIFA began in 1992 with the launch of Sensible Soccer, originally developed for the NES. FIFA was released as an arcade and 8-bit game in 1993. FIFA has sold over 90 million units worldwide to date and received numerous industry awards including six "Game of the Year" awards. In 2006, FIFA was the most popular game in the world with consumers and beat out Grand Theft Auto IV to claim that title. In the United States, FIFA is the fifth best-selling game of all time, selling over 5.5 million units. FIFA continues to innovate across both consoles and PC with new modes, tools, and features, while delivering a deep, authentic football experience to players around the world. The FIFA team strives to create meaningful and exciting gameplay to ensure that everyone can participate and enjoy the game. In addition, the company's commitment to sports video games is demonstrated by the number of professional athletes on its development staff. EA SPORTS FIFA is the #1 EA SPORTS franchise and the #1 FIFA franchise globally. Read more on Wikipedia After five years of steady iteration, EA SPORTS FIFA 22 brings the game to a new platform, new hardware, and new players. We're doing something new, bringing to life a new generation of gameplay in every mode, with improved ball control, smarter AI, and a new generation of players – from the world's best to its most promising young players. The goal is to rebuild the game on its terms – to bring FIFA closer to the real game – without compromising what we believe to be a truly authentic gameplay experience. We're also expanding the game with free post-release updates for years to come, adding new features and content to take the game even deeper into the future. This gameplay update is more than the sum of its parts. It includes more than 70 new player animations, more than 60 new ball animations, 500 new crowd chants, an entirely new game-changing crowd system, and more than 20 new motions and celebrations. Below, find out why EA SPORTS FIFA 22 is FIFA on the edge of innovation, building on its current strengths while bringing the game closer to the real thing. Classic Traits & New Possibilities FIFA is a deeply-respected football simulation, a beloved franchise that's been played by millions for more than 30 years, winning the hearts of players and coaches. With EA SPORTS FIFA 22, we want to express our passion for the sport and bring to life a game that's closer to the real thing. That requires pushing the boundary on gameplay – while maintaining our belief in authenticity. We want to make sure the gameplay experience you're playing is real, not just fun. We're doing this by creating a total future-proof, upgradeable, and customizable game, supported by industry-leading technology. We're inventing new ways to make the gameplay more immersive, more emotional, more fun, and more technically competitive. This technology is powered by the latest generation of the award-winning Frostbite™ game engine, delivering even better environmental and lighting effects, more refined animations, deeper effects like hair flocking and improved player model resolution – and of course, a whole bunch of other new effects, like cloth physics and dynamic rainfall.
