Jan 21, 2009 htf_mcnelly.B is a Trojan/worm that spreads quickly in the Auto Signatures of e-mail messages sent from the affected computer. The htf_mcnelly.B variant may also establish a so-called "double agent" where it sends itself to a user's address book. Such a computer program may be used to distribute the Fortnight.B (or Trojan.Win32.Fortnight.B) worm, for example. It is recommended that users inspect their e-mail address book for a suspicious entry and/or remove the offending message. If the malicious e-mail was sent by the user himself, he may remove the htf_mcnelly.B infection from his PC using the WinMend application; if the malicious e-mail was sent by someone else, he may use the WinMend application to remove the htf_mcnelly.B infection from the computer of the person who sent it to him. Systems running older versions of Windows (Win95, Win98, WinMe) are likely to be vulnerable to the attack. Dec 28, 2008 htf b7e8fdf5c8

Windchill readings can make you feel like it's much colder than it really is. When weather is extreme, slow down, stay off the road and be vigilant. Apply gentle pressure to a growing head cold. You may want to use a cold water washcloth, aspirin-soda mixture, or other medicinal remedies to relieve congestion. Alcohol-free cough syrups may be used when there is no sign of an infection. Medicines should be taken at the right time for the best effect. Do not take more of a cold or flu medication than is recommended on the label. Cover your nose and mouth when you cough or sneeze with a tissue. Throw the tissue in the trash after using it. If you wear glasses or contacts, take them off when you go indoors. Be sure to have enough water and other supplies to stay healthy. Store water in clean, sealable containers. Check the temperature and store it below freezing.(Reuters Health) - Instead of bouncing from job to job and spending hours on a computer screen each day, people who are effectively sedentary at work could do better to go to the gym more often, a new study suggests. To reach that goal, people who are looking to get a better job should consider increasing the number of physical activities they do each day, including by joining a gym or walking the dog, researchers at Duke University Medical Center and the University of California, San Francisco say in Health Affairs. "If you work in an environment that demands a lot of
