No Longer Whispering To Power: The Story Of Thuli Madonsela These books are called exercises and the idea is that you do them as you would normally read or think about a book. (in preparation for a days course) I consider the idea of simply turning the first page in the Book of Job as a strategy to help you begin to re-member your relationship with this whole book, your relationship with Job. I will write a little more about this idea in my next post. The first step is reading the first page of the book of Job, maybe without knowing what you are going to write about. I love the idea of remembering the first page of a book, I find it essential because if you knew what you were going to write about you would just write it, but if you are in the story, you are no longer writing about it, you are writing about your relationship to it. That s what I mean by a strategy to help you begin to re-member your relationship with this whole book, your relationship with Job. I had to start reading the Book of Job in a different way, that means opening it up to read it as a whole, the whole person and not just looking at it for the information that I need. Also, it is not only the idea that you do this exercise once a day, I have done it everyday for three months now, and once a week for six months, and I still find it valuable to re-member this book. I will write a little more about this idea in my next post. This week's story is about my relationship with this book, my relationship with Job. To study the suppression of sevoflurane on TNFalpha production and MAPK phosphorylation in RAW264.7 macrophage during the process of endotoxin induced cell injury. After treatment with or without sevoflurane for 1.5 hours, the RAW264.7 macrophage was stimulated by 1 mg/L endotoxin for different time. The cell viability was evaluated by MTT assay. The level of TNFalpha in the culture supernatant was measured by ELISA. The level of phospho-p44/42 MAPK(ERK1/2) was assessed by Western blotting. The level of phospho-p38 MAPK and phospho-JNK were assayed by specific antibody binding method.

Sevoflurane at 1, 2, 4, and 6 MAC concentration showed no cytotoxicity against RAW264.7 macrophage. Endotoxin stimulation significantly increased the level of phospho-p44/42 MAPK(ERK1/2) and phospho-p38 MAPK and this effect was suppressed by sevoflurane at different concentration. Compared with control group, the level of phospho-p44/42 MAPK(ERK1/2) and phospho-p38 MAPK in endotoxin-stimulated RAW264.7 macrophage was decreased by 30.5%, 33.1%, 41.1% and 46.7%, 46.8% and 68.8% respectively at concentrations of
