As a blessed child of the Elder Elden, with a power known only to them, you stand on the threshold between lands and age. You have been called, and your name is being written into the fabric of history. The prophecy's curse will soon be upon you; it will change the destiny of this world, your own, and of the Lands Between itself. Your game story will begin with your birth in the world of Elden. You will accompany your parents through the end of their lives and, in their passing, be gifted with a power that will make you the most powerful being in the history of the world. Through your struggles, you will shape your character, and with that strength of will, your story will continue into the lands between, the lands that came before. You will travel to the world of the Eldens, and learn the secrets of the world as it was. In this land, you will learn of the war between the ancient Elden Gods and the Gods of the Darkness. By the end of this conflict, a new power will emerge, a god born of both worlds, rising against the fates of both lands. This will be your story, and as you embark upon it, your name will be written into the fabric of history. ► TRIALS 1: FEAR ➡ GOOD - James Docherty ➡ MUSIC: Painted Names - Y2Stream: ► PLAYLIST: I have created a series of LARA
