Love is love and all that, but that only sometimes translates as a rational choice. Ok. We both need to learn about love, and soon, so let's commence. What's this game about? What should it be about? Why? Cause I've got a good idea. You meet a cat, he goes through a few trials, proves his worthiness for a nookie and makes it to the catster. You love your cat(s), well wowsies, you've come to the right place! These kitties are looking for love and whoever loves the most gets to fuck. There's a slight twist of course... How to play Kitten Love Emulator? You set out on a quest to find the one you really, really, really, want to fuck - and you have to climb and find some way to do it. There are thousands of challenges you can meet, and each time your kitten will give you a hint, a tip, or even a price to pay in order to access the "pearl". Plain and simple - your mission is to find and fuck every kitty in this game. You'll have to overcome many obstacles, flaws, bugbears and even a few traps if you wanna reach the "pearl". How to unlock levels? If you're good at finding a way to get to the "pearl", you get to see the next level of this kitty quest. What are the difficulties? There are 4 difficulties in this game. Each difficulty offers harder and harder challenges. Normal: The easiest. Nothing too hard yet. I had fun with this difficulty. I didn't die as much as I normally do in these games. Hard: Harder, but no challenges that are TOO insane yet. Like the hard-hard difficulty, except the challenge is insanely hard. Insane: The hardest. You will die in record time. Challenge the limits of your human brain, or don't even bother.. Unlimited: If you come back from the endless level, I will add a new, more epic level to the game. How to get unlimited time? New games get to be a endless level, once they are set up. What can I do in the game? Pick a cat and attempt to impress it with your big box of pasta, and see how it

Description A new world to explore. A new adventure to face. A new enemy to fight. Fight your way through asteroids and enemy ships. Test your skills in the "Room of Death" and face the final boss. A new mini game with a new challenge for you to overcome. Don't be fooled by this game's easy tutorial. If you think you can handle it, then you're about to get your ass handed to you. "Z: Escape" pits you against The Abyss as well as a myriad of other enemies who want to have their way with your "Raiden". You will be hard pressed to find the right combination of targets for just about any weapon in this game. Combined with room of death and bosses, "Z: Escape" is no child's play. You will die a lot. You will die for the very reason that your enemy will destroy you when your back is turned. Every weapons projectile is a precision weapon. Be careful of where you fire it. This game is tougher than Rock Band 2 and might just leave you speechless when you've lost the upper hand. "Z: Escape" is for extreme gamers who have a serious case of Z-Lust. Blizzards. It rages out of the rocketball, created by a volcano explosion, carrying off dark clouds of green, blue, red & yellow, flecks or dustclouds. Today the meteor shower rages off the horizon. During the first week of summer, the sun is as bright as ever, but obscured by low-hanging clouds. During the last minutes, the thunderstorms reach new intensity, now carries off a dustcloud of a more tan color, the hot lightning balls fire up again on the light cloudless days. Meteorite dust gathers on the lens of your new camera. Rain showers also create a brighter light. Staying home with him afterwork, you observe his silhouette under the window. He's asleep, more than likely.

After a long drive, you return home, ponder in the car on the route where you live. The house is a green brick building with a huge garden around it, next to it a carport. An endless woods, hangars for airplanes, is located nearby. Walking back to the garage, you see your recently driven vehicle, a typical metal-gray Nissan SUV. In the garage you find a second hunk of gray metal, the door open, two steps in to the pale yellow light of a hidden house within. Quickly you flee, before the attack of those that may at this time gather.

You drive home, enter the house and
