I'm using Socket.io for a multiplayer game. This is how I start the server var app = require('http').createServer(handler), io = require('socket.io').listen(app), socket = io.of('/game'), function handler(req, res) { res.writeHead(200); res.end(); } app.listen(2000); This is how I start the client var socket = io(""); The issue When the server is busy with websocket clients, the server lags for a long time before releasing the connection What do? A: Here's some code I'm using that, at least, allows a busier server to be more responsive. A Server var io = require('socket.io'); var server = io.listen(2000); server.on('connection', function(socket){ socket.on('hello', function(msg){ socket.emit('hello', {hello: 'world'}); }); socket.on('playerOffline', function(msg){ socket.emit('playerOffline', {player: msg.player}); }); socket.on('playerOnline', function(msg){
