Lightroom is an Adobe-owned camera and photo management application that can be used as a stand-alone application or as part of the Creative Cloud. Lightroom is designed for photographers who want to import, manage and edit digital photos. Photographers typically use a computer to manage photo projects, make corrections, and add various effects to enhance the images. Unlike Photoshop, Lightroom is a collection of photo-editing tools combined with a central management system. Lightroom is designed to work specifically with RAW photo files from digital cameras and RAW photography files produced from digital slideshows. Creating RAW files allows the image information to be exactly as it was recorded in the camera. Lightroom can convert the RAW photo into a JPEG file; it does not support RAW photo formats like TIFF or PSD, and does not support other image formats from the past, like BMP or GIF. Adobe Lightroom is available for a trial period for $9.99. After the trial period, you can choose to purchase the software at a discounted price. Ad

DOHA, December 7 (Reuters) - Qatar's Emir Sheikh Tamim bin Hamad Al Thani on Saturday said "confrontation" between his country and its Gulf Arab neighbors would not end with a compromise, but said the United States could play a role. "Doha is not seeking confrontation with the countries of the region. We all seek mutual benefits and support," Sheikh Tamim said in a speech read on Qatar's state TV. Qatar's neighbors cut ties with the Gulf state in 2017, accusing it of backing terrorism and fostering ties to Iran, and have imposed a series of punitive measures on Doha. Qatari officials, however, have said their objections have more to do with the principle of "absolute sovereignty" in their Gulf region than with Doha's backing of the Muslim Brotherhood, which they view as a political foe. Sheikh Tamim said that any settlement could not be reached while "one hand believes he has been wronged", and that Doha would not bow to regional pressure. "We will not accept any compromise or surrender. This is not the type of nature that our father has to accept," he said, referring to the country's emir. "On the contrary, we'll pursue our rights and legitimate interests." Sheikh Tamim said that Gulf countries "are fighting a battle with terrorism. This is the source of all the problems." Gulf officials have said Doha, which has hosted an anti-terrorism summit, as well as a meeting between Iranians and Gulf leaders, was promoting terrorism in their region and that the group where the summit was held had links to Iran. U.S. Secretary of State Mike Pompeo will visit Doha on Sunday, the first visit by a senior U.S. official to the Gulf state in eight months. Sheikh Tamim said the visit was being seen as a sign that the United States could play a role in any settlement of Gulf issues. "America was pushed (out of the region) by its own choices. Why would you expect them to become our partners," he added. Speaking later at a banquet to mark the opening of a museum of Qatar's independence from British rule in 1922, Sheikh Tamim said the country would open embassies in Beijing and Investigating the relationship between alcohol dependence and regulation of mood and alcohol seeking. Alcoholics can be divided into two groups, those with predominantly anxious, depressive or euphoric symptoms and those without. The former group tend to be more responsive to alcohol and have a poorer prognosis. The purpose of this study was to investigate the relationship between regulation of mood and alcohol seeking behaviour in alcohol dependent and nondependent subjects. Eighty-two participants were enrolled into the study. The results indicated that the anxiety-related personality traits of negative affectivity, harm avoidance and the hyperthymic temperament were associated with a greater number of drinking episodes. Individuals with high harm avoidance, low negative affectivity or high hyperthymic temperament were more likely to be abstinent and have a low rate of drinking episodes. The data support the notion that anxiety may be a marker of greater responsivity to alcohol and greater use of alcohol. Fluent in code, to stay hydrated.
