The data captured in this new system is utilized in FIFA Ultimate Team mode to help players create footballing magic with two new modes: Collection Mode, and Builder Mode. A new Training Mode allows players to analyse and customise their gameplay, with the Player Impact Engine, Player Sprint Engine and Player Power Engine all introduced to provide a more accurate, realistic and extensive analysis of player movement patterns and skills. Players will also be able to record and replay their own match footage to hone their skills using the new Replay Engine, creating a deeper, more realistic experience than ever before. In addition to these new gameplay features, FIFA Ultimate Team will receive three new game modes: AFC Champion Challenge, created for the UEFA Champions League, UEFA Europa League and various pre-qualified international club competitions; the FIFA eWorld Cup, featuring more authentic looking e-World Cup environments; and the FIFA eWorld Cup International Tournament, using the UEFA Champions League and UEFA Europa League e-World Cup stadiums as opposed to the FIFA World Cup and FIFA Confederations Cup stadiums featured in FIFA 21. FIFA Ultimate Team will also receive content updates, including new packs featuring the return of the new Legend Edition items, as well as appearance updates and new player chips. Check out this new trailer to learn more about how FIFA Ultimate Team is being updated with the help of some real-life footballers: FIFA 22 video highlights PRO Clubs Over the past few years, you've made your way up the ranks in FIFA Ultimate Team, reaching the top level of Club World Club in FIFA 20, and qualifying for the FIFA eWorld Cup, FIFA eWorld Cup International Tournament and the FIFA Club World Cup in FIFA 19.
