Advertisement Hi all, this is my first post on this site so please be gentle. I've been making my own eyeliner for years but I'm looking to buy a new eyeliner pencil. I use the same brush for eyeliner and mascara so I'm looking for the cheapest that will last me a while. As a plus I also want one that doesn't flake when you rub it. If you are a long-time reader, you probably know this product already: The Writing Instrument Database lists our guide to Liquid Eyeliner under their write-up 'What is liquid eyeliner?' ( If you're a new reader, you probably don't know this product so I'll explain it here anyway. Liquid eyeliner is a gel-type product that dries into a long-lasting but slightly watery, dark-to-black color. (Photo: alexandra.morton.photography/Flickr) Long story short - I love it. You can use liquid eyeliner in a way that a pencil or brush can't. And it has the added benefit that you can easily add color to the top of your lash line, without any white stuff around your eyes. In my opinion, liquid eyeliner is better than eyeshadow because it is all you need to do one eye at a time. What to Look for Liquid eyeliner goes for as little as $2 at the drugstore - check out the Walmart website for their absolute cheapest price. The same goes for Walmart: a 10-pack (about 20 $2 tubes) is less than $10. Your nearest VF (Vitaminwater, etc.) is fine. And then there are those that are more expensive but are also better made. I like Seche eye pencils e79caf774b
