I'm creating this program to copy files from one user's computer to another one (practically from the user's desktop to his user account). The code used to work perfectly fine, but now, I'm trying to enhance it to copy files from a new folder I've created. Since I'm copying "C:\Users" + Path.GetFileName(path_to_copy.Text), that location doesn't exist, it instead created a folder with the same name as the textbox I've filled in. I've tried to add a separate if statement, but the program just closes suddenly. I found out the issue is when trying to execute the CopyFile function. Ex: private void button_Copy_Click(object sender, EventArgs e) { using (FileStream sourceStream = new FileStream(path_to_copy.Text, FileMode.Open, FileAccess.Read, FileShare.Read)) using (FileStream destinationStream = new FileStream(@"C:\Users\path_in_my_deskop\path_to_copy.txt", FileMode.Create, FileAccess.Write, FileShare.None)) { try { byte[] buffer = new byte[sourceStream.Length]; sourceStream.Read(buffer, 0, buffer.Length); destinationStream.Write(buffer, 0, buffer.Length); } catch (Exception ex) { throw ex; } } } Is there any way

A machine created by LG, promoting the brand's new refrigerators, is the world's first electric soda machine. It's simply called LG Soda, and it allows users to choose between the premium and regular flavors of Coca-Cola. To activate, the machine consumes either one or two "motee" batteries, which are the same type of batteries used in refrigerators. The machine is safe for use in the home, but LG assures that only soda will be dispensed. No coffee, no juice, no diet coke. The machine comes at a price of $5,600, and is expected to hit stores later this year. What do you think of the LG Soda? Is it too expensive or will it be a must-have for soda fans?Image copyright Getty Images Sainsbury's has said about 1,500 people will lose their jobs as part of a plan to cut costs. The supermarket chain, which owns the Morrisons chain, said that the job losses in the second half of the year will be less than half of the previous one. The company also said its UK same-store sales had fallen by 3% in the three months to September. Shares fell 3% after the Sainsbury's announcement, as UK consumer sentiment continues to lag. However, shares rose 1% in early trade in New York, a day after the retailer unveiled an attempt to claw back market share from Tesco. 'Major restructuring' Approached by the BBC in his Buckinghamshire home, one staff member said that their job could be at risk. "I think they're outsourcing more than they've been doing and they're trying to save money," she said. "I mean, it will be retail workers losing their jobs. It won't be just management or control groups. I don't think they were just gonna sack all the people in the control group at this time and say 'we're gonna have to manage this company down'." Basosquamous cell carcinoma (BSC) is a rare malignancy that originates from the basal layer of the squamous epithelium. In contrast, melanized BSC is rarely reported in the literature. We report a case of melanized BSC with a history of a previous melanoma, and subsequently found to have a splenic metastasis at 10 years following resection. The examination of the entire resected specimen revealed the presence of intradermal and dermal nests of malignant cells, with melanin-rich and nucleated cells. The nests were associated with necrosis of the overlying epidermis and with dense fibrosis. The diagnosis of melanized BSC can be supported by immunostaining for HMB45. The diagnosis can also be supported by absence of mutations in the BRAF gene. Melanin immunohistochemistry and absence of BRAF mutations were used in confirming melanin and BRAF mutations, respectively.ul is a negative regulator of adipogenesis through decreasing P16^{INK4A}. (A) Western blot analysis of P16^{INK4A}, p-FAK and FAK in SSC culture at day 4 and 8. This works fine, except for theorems which are referred by their name with \autorefname. It also should work for every theorem theorem, regardless of the environment (say, inside an inline or a display theorem) and don't get reference links. In other words, theorems should get reference links if they are referred by themselves or some other theorem.
