I have been finding some patterns recently for the smaller spaces and could be more precise so I could learn more of them, so this would be great to any ideas of what is going on in 4-space group. Thanks in advance. A: Once you learn what you need to do and be able to do it with understanding, next step is to learn it. There are great references, books and lectures on Groups, (Engl. & Ger.) and following should help you start: Dunwoody: An introduction to group theory Buechler: Groups, Classical Algebra and Its Applications Klein's Lectures A. Mal'cev, A. I. Friedmann: A course in abstract algebra If you have access to internet, then the following lecture series and slides should serve you well: A: A lot of what you need to know is covered in the following US MATH REVIEW Magazine article on groups: Groups; An introduction to group theory (Volume 24, Issue 3, March 1996). (Unfortunately this article is behind a subscription wall.) A: A very good book with lots of exercises that explain and show the applicability of group theory in practice is: "Groups, Rings, and the Fundamental Theorems of Arithmetic". The work of Artin, in this book, is quite remarkable. 582, 586 (1973) ("At no point has the State suggested that it could prove the appellant's guilt without reliance on his silence.... If, as the State contends, a defendant can be convicted on the basis of his silence, `the fifth amendment, with its promise that he will not be 6d1f23a050
