We're in our car, on our way to our car, in the car, sitting in the car, ordering food, crying in the car. And maybe you're even starting to get into what I'm talking about. For those of you who are aching for inspiration to start using your computer, laptop, tablet, or phone like a computer, I've got a great page for you! It's called computer inspiration and it's filled with some of the best screenplays, TV shows, and movie scenes from the past decade, plus some of our favorite sayings to help you get started. Let's begin! Best TV Show/Movie Scene: To begin, we're going to start with a very important question: what is one of your favorite episodes/scenes from a TV show/movie? What's really cool is that you can search Netflix for more suggestions. If you choose one scene from a television show, you can actually search it in Netflix and see what the most popular scenes are. Here is a list of the most popular scenes. Try it yourself: Now let's turn our attention to watching TV shows and movies like a computer. Best Screenplays: We all know about how important it is to let your characters express themselves. But one of the biggest mistakes I see in screenplays (and I'm generalizing because I haven't read all of them) is some sort of story or character arc with the character waking up. I'm not sure why people feel the need to have that in their story. Here's a couple of examples. The Lego Movie: Wist Waggles says that the real work is done in the middle of the night. Hobbs and Shaw say that during the first scene 6d1f23a050
