March 11, 2005 - Most likely, the small window you see is just a live preview. You > I tried to shoot video and play it in "full screen mode". Note: - If > trying to play a video in full screen, > without shooting it with pauses between frames, then you > you only see a black window on a white background. If > you shoot a video and then > play it full screen then > you see a color window.> This is because > Windows 2000 default > displays video in > 640x480 (3:2); so that > play it full screen, > you need to change the mode.
