A license to hack Synology Surveillance Station for 40 cameras instead of 2 built-in. How to do it. There are two cameras, each with its own IP address. In the camera settings there is a motion detection recording, but if the camera is turned on and no video is recorded for 30 minutes, then the recording is automatically paused. How to make the camera write what it needs, and not the crap that it is currently writing. There is one more camera, it is not included in the list, but it works via remote access via TCP. It has its own IP address, and this address does not match the IP cameras to be hacked.
